

LH Water Volleyball Club BY ROSEMARY ELSTON

The Water Volleyball Club is planning for an exciting 2019 year. The Steering Committee has begun developing an agenda which will include trainings for both recreational and competitive players, mentoring opportunities with new members, experimenting with different playing formats and scheduling social events in and out of the water. Two proposals currently receiving Steering Committee approval are ongoing Ladies Nights on the first Wednesday and specific skills trainings on the fourth Wednesday. Water Volleyball Club members have generously volunteered their time and expertise to organize, coordinate and provide instruction for these two popular activities. The level of commitment by members spearheading these activities and those participating is a testament to the enjoyment members receive from the sport of water volleyball.

In addition to identifying future Water Volleyball Club activities, the Steering Committee is also exploring ways to enhance communication with the membership utilizing the current webpage, continuing to refine and improve the ranking process, fostering the skill development of recreational and competitive level players, identifying opportunities for member participation and encouraging participation in social activities. As the new Communications Coordinator, I am open to any suggestions from the membership pertaining to the content of the Water Volleyball Club monthly articles. My Water Volleyball Club email is noted at the end of this article --- I would love to hear from members.

Finally, I would like to recognize Candy Castro, Communications Coordinator extraordinaire, for her innovative and professional execution of the Communication Coordinator duties. I personally have enjoyed member interviews, our informative whiteboard in the pool area, the awesome club flyer and her diligent effort to promote external and internal club communication. Thank you for an amazing job! If you would like to forward a suggestion or are interested in club membership, please send an email to sclhwatervolleyball@gmail.com.
